

Discovering Your “Success DNA”

You may be familiar with “core values” or having “internal drivers” – I call them your Success DNA, which is the unique set of Success Markers that you possess. They’re the unique beliefs and values that motivate you and drive your decisions (often without you even realizing it).

While most people have a basic understanding of what these “Success Drivers” are, very few people ever take the time to actually discover what their own actually are.

Getting clear on what drives you is one of the FASTEST ways to break through in your business, and become one of the “Top 5%” entrepreneurs. Clarity equals MASSIVE power.

What I can tell you is this – getting clear on your personal Success Drivers will not only provide you a “compass” to make your decisions, it will also allow you to feel more powerful and confident in everything that you do – particularly in the relationships that you build, both personally and professionally.

The Power Of “Success Markers”

Here are some of the key reasons why identifying your Success DNA is so powerful.

- Your Success Markers give you purpose, understanding and clarity

If you’re not clear on what your values are, you often end up living the values of other people around you – leading you to a sense of emptiness, confusion and monotony. On the other hand, when you begin to live your life aligned with your values, they help bring you purpose, direction wholeness, satisfaction and a sense of clarity.

- They promote greater cooperation and joy in your relationships

As I’ll show you in a minute, understanding your own values allow you to be clear about what you will accept and tolerate in relationships. Being clear on your own values allow you to attract and seek out people with similar values, allowing you to spend more time feeling understood and accepted, as opposed to struggling against what seems like “difficult” personalities.

- They prevent you from making bad choices

Once you get clear on your values, the things that matter most to you become much more obvious and easy to identify. As a result, you make less decisions that end up conflicting with your values, which leads to unhappiness and constant frustrations.

- Defining them gives you confidence

You'll notice that you will develop a quiet sense of confidence once you're clear on what drives and motivates you. By spending the time to identify and write them down, you'll know deep inside that you're making decisions for the right reason, as opposed to being manipulated or chasing false hopes – setting yourself up for failure. You'll make decisions and lead your life in a more deliberate way, because you'll have a strong sense of clarity.

- Getting clear on them makes life simpler

Quite simply, once you're clear on your values, life gets simpler, because you're not constantly faced with anxiety or torn between making choices. By using your markers as a compass to decisions you need to make, the answer becomes easier to see. In the end, the most successful people are those who make the most decisions, and this tool gives you that ability to make decisions much more quickly and effectively.

For a long time, I had heard about the concept of “core values”, but never really took the time to understand why they mattered, or why I should care.

Years ago, I was presented with an opportunity to do some work on my own values .. and the “a-has” that I received from learning them was astonishing.

Let me give you one of my personal experiences as a great example of how getting clear on your own values can help you improve and enhance your life, in virtually any area.

My personal 5 Success Markers are the following:

- Accountability
- Freedom
- Growth (Learning)
- Integrity
- Contribution

Those are in no particular order, simply because they move around in priority depending on what element of my life we're talking about. But the point is, these are my 5 Success Markers.

When I spent the time to learn what they are and these 5 things emerged at the top of my list, I suddenly realized why it was that some of the people and relationships in my life seemed so effortless .. while others always felt like a lot of work and struggle.

At the time, I had a couple of friends that I would often schedule to go and meet for lunch, drinks or whatever it was. Without exception, I would arrive on time, but they would usually show up late – whether it was a few minutes or even half an hour, the one thing I could count on was they couldn't be trusted to be one time.

When they did finally show up and I commented on them being late, their response would be along the lines of, "what's the big deal? It's only a few minutes!"

It really bothered me and seemed odd I couldn't just 'get over it' .. until I figured out what my Success Markers were.

You see, when someone violates your values (often without even knowing it), it creates a very negative, deep violation inside of you. If you're not aware of what your own values truly are, this can create frustration or confusion – because you can't figure out why you respond to seemingly innocent situations and experiences.

Have you ever been really upset and angered by something that was done to you, yet you couldn't even figure out WHY it pushed your buttons so much? This is what I'm talking about.

So when I realized that when people show up late and that's a violation of my value of Accountability, it gave me a completely different perspective.

And, here's the powerful part – it allowed me to deal with the challenge, and actually deepen my relationship with those people instead of causing me to push them out of my life.

I was able to sit down with them, and explain why it bothered me so much. They finally understood that this was beyond something that I should just 'get over'. I told them, I wanted them in my life and they were important to me, and that I needed them to respect my values.

They appreciated the conversation, and because they finally knew it really WAS important to me, they made an effort to be on time – which made me feel heard and respected, which is what a healthy relationship is all about.

By learning what your own Success Markers are, you can then consider them when you're making decisions in your business (and in your life) to make sure you are working in alignment with your values, instead of in conflict with them.

Now, you may be expecting more "business building" insight and strategies at this point in the program, but whether you realize it or not at this point, getting clear on your own values is truly one of the little-known secrets that the world's most successful people have mastered.

Operating without knowing your Success Markers is a little bit like trying to operate a complex piece of machinery without the instruction manual.

You just randomly push buttons and pull levers, trying to get the result you want – but it's frustrating, and you often end up creating more damage and problems than you solve.

And, even if you do get some success, you can't repeat it .. because you don't know what you did to actually create the success the first time around!

That's how important Success Markers are. And I believe this so thoroughly, that I created a special tool, my Success DNA Detector, to help you discover exactly what YOUR Success DNA is.

Using The DNA Success Detector

Step 1: Use The Success Markers Worksheet

Using the software, you will select up to 10 values or markers that you believe are the most important to you. They're the ones that you resonate with most, and that you feel embody what matters most to you. Then, the software will help you clarify which of those values truly ARE the most important to you, allowing you to arrive at your personal Top 5 Success Markers.

To make this easier, I've created a Success Markers Worksheet that allows you to scan dozens of values, and see which ones jump out at you as being important. Your first step is simply to identify anywhere from 6 to 10 values that you feel might be your core values.

The Success Markers Worksheet has been attached at the end of this PDF (there are 3 pages to it).

Step 1 is to identify the 6-10 values on the Worksheet that resonate most with you.

If there are values that are important to you that do not appear on that list, feel free to add your own at the end of the worksheet, in the blank spaces provided.

Once you've identified the 6-10 values that resonate with you most, write those values down in the box on page 3 of the Worksheet.

You should now have a list of 6-10 values that you believe are most important to you. We're now going to use the Success DNA Detector to figure out which of these values truly matter to you most.

Step 2: Use The Success DNA Detector

Now, go to the Success DNA Detector software page, which is located at:

<http://www.theauthorityformula.com/DNA>

Using the list of markers you identified on the last page of your worksheet, simply choose those from the list and then go through the process of comparing the values, and choosing the ones that matter most to you.

Simply follow the instructions on the screen, and you'll be taken through the process to discover YOUR Top 5 Success Markers.

Once the list of your Top 5 Success Markers is shown, you have the choice of printing and/or emailing your list. You should email yourself a copy of your results for your records, and print off a copy if you like.

Hopefully this process doesn't sound more complicated than it actually is – it should only take you about 12-15 minutes to complete this exercise.

Once you've completed it, you should gain a true sense of personal power and clarity, because you'll FINALLY know what your personal Top 5 Success Markers are – and this will allow you to start making better decisions in your own life as a result.

This process has literally transformed people's lives .. and I'm excited to share it with you.

Please post your comments below Video #1 and let me know what you thought of this experience, and what you got from it.

And make sure you watch out for Video #2, which is going to be released on Friday, March 4th!

To Your Success,

Greg Habstritt

Success Markers Worksheet

What are your personal Success Markers or core values? This worksheet is the first step for you to discover them.

Simply review the following list, and choose up to 10 (and a minimum of 6) of the following markers that resonate most with you. If there are markers or values that you consider important to you that are NOT on this list, use the empty space(s) at the end of this worksheet to add them to your list. You should have a minimum of 6 and maximum of 10 selections.

At this point, the goal is NOT to determine which of the ones you select are more or less important than others. The only goal you have here is to identify the markers or values that you associate with MOST.

(Note that the list continues on the following pages – be sure to review them all before making selections!)

Value	Description
Achievement	Sense of accomplishment, attainment
Accountability	Takes responsibility for both actions and outcomes
Advancement	Moving forward toward clear defined goals, or flexibly altered goals
Adventure	New heights, new challenges, adrenalin rush, taking risks, thrills
Authenticity	The quality of being true, genuineness
Balance	Balancing time and effort between money, family, friends, health, faith
Belonging	To feel part of a group or association of others
Celebrity	Being famous, known, recognizable
Camaraderie	Importance of personal relationships and warm working relationships
Commitment	Being bound emotionally or intellectually to a course of action, dedication
Compassion	Caring about others, watch out for pity which is the near enemy of compassion
Competitiveness	Working against others where there are clear win/lose outcomes
Competence	Possessing the skill, knowledge and ability to effectively perform
Consensus	General agreement or accord, harmony with others
Consistency	Precision with little tolerance for errors or unpredictability
Contribution	Service, giving to or supporting a charity or cause
Control	To exercise restraint or limitation on others or situations
Cooperation	Collaboration, working with others for common goals
Courage	Willingness to take calculated risks, operating outside of one's comfort zone
Creativity	Being imaginative, innovative, inventive, original, out-of-the-box
Decisiveness	Assess and eliminate all alternatives
Directness	To speak honestly and without avoiding important or unpleasant points
Education	The act or process of imparting or acquiring general knowledge
Effectiveness	The ability to produce a desired effect or outcome
Efficiency	Creating results in a timely manner with minimal waste, expense, or unnecessary effort
Empowerment	Gaining power, authority or ability to accomplish
Environment	Commitment and dedication to the earth and the physical world in which we live

Excellence	Standard of being outstandingly good and having exceptional merit.
Fairness	Treating people and being treated equally, equitable, moral rightness
Faith	Belief in a higher power
Family	Being with family - both quality and quantity of time
Fitness	Being physically fit, regular physical activity, optimal well-being
Forgiveness	Letting go of feelings of resentment, pardoning actions or situations
Freedom	Able to move about without bounds or restraints, liberty
Growth	Investing in lifelong learning, personal development, self-education.
Happiness	Good fortune, pleasure, contentment, joy
Harmony	Agreement, accord, harmonious relations
Health	Physical and psychological well-being, vigor, strength
Honesty	Being truthful, sincere
Honor	Honesty, fairness, or integrity in one's beliefs and actions
Hope	Maintaining an optimistic or enthusiastic outlook
Humility	The quality or condition of being humble, having a modest opinion of self
Independence	free from the influence, guidance or control of others.
Influence	Being a compelling force on actions, behavior, opinions, etc., of others
Integrity	Beliefs and actions are congruent, being true to who you are, doing what you say
Intimacy	Close, familiar, and often affectionate or loving personal relationship
Kindness	Friendly, caring, liking
Knowledge	Subject matter expert, education via experience or study
Leadership	Ability to influence and direct others, guidance
Loyalty	Devoted or faithful to a person, an ideal, a custom a cause or a duty
Mastery	Proficiency, excellence in a given field or area
Obedience	The act or practice of obeying, dutiful or submissive compliance
Openness	Accessible, as to appeals, ideas, or offers
Organized	Importance of order, structure, neatness, systems, tidyness
Passion	Intense emotional excitement, boundless enthusiasm
Perfection	The highest attainable standard
Perseverance	Resilience, never giving up regardless of challenges or problems
Pleasure	Enjoyment, delight, gratification
Power	Authority, control, command, clout
Precision	Accuracy, exactness, meticulousness, correctness
Professionalism	Setting and maintaining boundaries to be effective, produce strong results
Public Exposure	Dealing with the public, day-to-day contact, in the public spotlight
Recognition	Giving and receiving acknowledgement for achievements.
Responsibility	Being accountable for results, conscientious, reliable, trustworthy
Results	To be concerned with outcomes of efforts or focus
Security	Protection or precautions taken against escape, loss, custody
Self-control	Control or restraint of oneself or one's actions, feelings, etc
Self-Identity	Having self-respect, pride, dignity, confidence
Significance	Holding a position of importance, high standing or prestige

Simplicity	Lack of complexity/complication
Spirituality	Beliefs, meaning of life/existence, faith, existentialism
Stability	Predictable routines, schedules, providing security, constancy, regularity
Status	The position, prestige or ranking of an individual in relation to another or others
Structure	Formality, processes, systems
Superiority	The quality or condition of being superior to something or someone
Teamwork	Cooperative, collective effort by a group or team
Thoroughness	Attention to detail and accuracy, being complete and without omission
Tolerance	A fair, objective, and permissive attitude toward others
Toughness	Strong and durable, not easily broken or overcome
Tranquility	Calmness, peacefulness, quiet, serenity
Trust	Firm reliance on the integrity, ability or character of a person or thing
Truth	A verified or indisputable fact, proposition, principle, or the like
Unity	Absence of diversity, unvaried or uniform character
Urgency	Fast-paced, swift, action-oriented
Variety	Diversity of cultures/lifestyles/experiences
Victory	A success or triumph over a challenge or enemy in battle or war
Virtue	Morally excellence, goodness, righteousness
Wisdom	Having deep understanding, insight, knowledge, ability to make good judgments

Once you're finished, copy the 6-10 markers/values that you identified into the following table. You will enter these into the Success DNA Detector.

1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8
9
10

You can access the DNA Success Detector online at: <http://www.TheAuthorityFormula.com/DNA>